KAULUKOU'S
BIRTHDAY

Fifty Years Passed by the Jurist and Diplomat.

Surrounded only by his immediate family and the neighbors who dropped in informally, Judge J. L. Kaulukou yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his birth. Added interest was given to the occasion by the fact that Judge Kaulukou's old preceptor, Dr. Bishop, celebrated on Saturday the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding.

Judge Kaulukou has had a varied career, but withal one which has been centered about one idea, that of the law. Born in Keaouhou, Kona, he was early left without parents, and to his grandfather is due the education which led the youth to higher things. At the age of 13 years he was sent to Lahaina, then under the principalship of J. F. Pogue, but within six months under the direction of Dr. Sereno Bishop. Until 1869 the young man studied, being in the first class which graduated under Dr. Bishop, which had completed the course under his instruction entirely. After graduation three months here in the office of Photographer King led to the first government appointment of the young man, that of school teacher at his birthplace in Kona.

After four years there Kaulukou came back to Honolulu and began the study of the law under Chief Justice Harris and later under Chief Justice Judd. During his preparation for the bar Kaulukou served one year as a guard at the insane asylum, and taught school at Maemae, adding to his capital also by selling oranges through the streets. His determination to make his way in his chosen profession made him friends, and in July, 1877, he was appointed District Magistrate for Koolau, on the other side of the island. This post he held for several years. He was elected to the Legislature from that district in 1880 and again in 1882, and while still in office he was elected to the Legislature from this district.

In 1882 the most important event occurred in the life of the young attorney, in that through the interest of the King, who had taken a very great fancy to the young man, he was named as secretary to J. A. Kapena, Minister to Japan, to enter into negotiations for the purpose of bringing Japanese to this country. This gave the young attorney not only four months in court circles there, but as well a month in San Francisco. This experience broadened his mind and laid the foundation for much of the future success of the Judge. In 1884 he was made Sheriff of Hawaii and two years later was elected to the Legislature from the district of Hilo. A short time after the election Judge Kaulukou was summoned to Honolulu by the King and made Postmaster General. This appointment lasted for a short time only, for the Marshals of the Kingdom was given to him and during the same year he was called to the Attorney Generalship, holding the place for ten days prior to the appointment of Antone Rosa, when he returned to the Marshalship, which he held for a short time, leaving it to take up the practice of the law, which he had continued until the present time, varying it only by service in the Legislature of 1898, when he was speaker of the House.

Judge Kaulukou was married in 1870 and has now three sons living, four daughters having passed away. One son, Abraham, is clerk of court, while the others are in school, Lot Kalam at Oahu College, and J. L. Jr. at St. Louis College.

There were a number of callers yesterday who enjoyed the hospitality of the semi-centenarian at his home, and the day was passed in informal merry-making and the enjoyment of delicacies which arrived from other islands in honor of the event.

"THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD"

Alack, there lies more peril in thine eye
 Than twenty of their swords.—Shakespeare.

It would seem from Shakespeare's musings, there are other things mightier than either Pen or Sword.

The power of a perfect eye is weird in its mystic spell.

If you would have perfect eyes and perfect eyesight you must heed the warnings that tell of eye-strain—Nature's demand for help.

When eye help is needed, let us be the helpers.
